

THE INSTITUTE OF SCIENTIFIC BUSINESS

The Institute is currently being established (as a non-profitmaking body) to encourage the spread of the knowledge and application of scientific method in every facet of the day by day management of business.

Fellowship is open to men and women who have studied at post graduate level for General Business and Management awards, and successfully obtained such awards as are agreed by the Council to be of the required standard and content. Students engaged on such approved courses can register as Associates for the duration of their studies.

The aim of the Institute is primarily carried forward at the present time by the creation, through The Journal of SCIENTIFIC BUSINESS, of a serious business literature. Conferences, Seminars and Lectures will be arranged from time to time, and a voice in the pattern of development for Business Studies will be sought.

Subscription fees to the Institute, which include the cost of the Quarterly Journal of SCIENTIFIC BUSINESS, are:

Fellows	4 gns. per year
Associates	2 gns. per year

Applications for membership or further details should be sent to the Membership Secretary: Mr. K. Marshall,
262 High Street,
Langley,
Buckinghamshire

Complete details of the General Management award held, or studied for, should be forwarded with any application for membership of the Institute. Remittances should not be enclosed with Applications.

The journal of SCIENTIFIC BUSINESS is published by the Creative Press and Publishing Co. Ltd., and edited by members of the Institute. It is available to non-members of the Institute and to Libraries at the published annual rates.
